6. The poet arrives at a certain conclusion in the last three lines of the poem. What is it? Write in your own words.

Ans: The poet concludes in the last lines of the poem that without the love of God he can hardly live in this world or the world hereafter. He believes that only God's help can sustain us.

7. Paraphrase the poem in your own words.

Ans: The poet is terrified with the death of his neighbouring friend. Death transfers a man from this mortal world into the eternal world. Death leaves behind extreme grief and sorrow for the bereaved persons. The poem proves that Man is helpless before death. The only defence against death is the love of God which supports in both worlds. The poem justifies the reality of death as an inevitable reality.
